What kinds of people take risks? Probably the first images that come to mind are that of mountain climbers, sky divers, perhaps international spies.

But there are lots of "ordinary" people who take risks, too. Not spectacular, physical risks, but risks nonetheless. They are people who dare to do things that simply aren't easy for them to do.

This day-to-day sort of risk taking isn't as exciting as an attempt on Mt. Everest, but it may actually be more difficult in some ways. You're going to get plenty of attention and support for something as dramatic as mountain climbing; but daring to speak out about an unpopular cause won't win you many medals or friends. That's what makes it tough.

What is a risk for one woman may be second nature to another. For example, a woman, who is surrounded by other women who stay at home, is going to be taking a risk by working outside the home. But another woman, whose family and friends all work outside the home, may find that her decision to remain at home is a risk.

Risking means having the courage to be yourself and standing up for your beliefs. It's a risk to share a new idea in front of a group, to dress the way you like to dress, to stick up for someone you feel is being unfairly criticized by your friends. It's risky to try a new project, to tell a joke, to be the only one or the first one to do most anything.

It's much easier to avoid taking risks. Playing it safe and going along means no criticism; no chance of making a fool of yourself; no terrible, lonely moments of doubt. But it also may mean no real sense of accomplishment and no feeling of pride for having asserted yourself.

Where would we be if everyone stuck with the status quo? Well, for starters, Theta probably wouldn't exist. Bettie, Alice, Bettie and Hannah had to take some pretty big risks when they formed Kappa Alpha Theta. They were shunned, ridiculed, questioned and criticized for attempting to form a fraternity for women. Our founders were the first Thetas to take risks, but there have been plenty since. Some extraordinary, most ordinary.

Fraternity officers and volunteers take risks by voicing opinions, by creating new programming, by working hard on projects that aren't assured of obvious success. The women in this issue's article, "Living with Disabilities," (See page 18.) are risk takers. They dare to be themselves and live vitally under circumstances too difficult for most to even consider.

Theta's Grand President Sue Supple takes risks by speaking out about controversial issues in which she strongly believes, in speeches and columns in the Magazine. Collegians who attended the 1987 Leadership Conference took risks by having the courage to share their ideas and values with Thetas they'd never met. And the next issue of the Magazine will feature college chapter presidents who have taken stands on issues despite criticism.

Meet the challenges in your life by taking positive risks for yourself and for Theta.

Loyally,

THE BIG STEP

The transition from college to career is tough, but not impossible.

The transition from college to career: It's a big step. Many regard college as a magic passport to the "real world," which can guarantee money and success, but it's not that easy.

Whether you have a job waiting for you, or you find yourself frantically searching for employment after graduation, it takes some time to adjust to life after college.

How do you begin?

Finding employment can be a full-time job itself. How do you get started? Begin by deciding in which direction you want to go. Many career planning books have extensive questionnaires to help you determine your strengths and interests.

According to Diana Allen, former assistant director of career planning and placement at the University of Tulsa, "It is helpful to do an analysis or self-study of what you have to offer a potential employer. Decide the strengths, assets, interests and abilities you have that are most pertinent to a potential employer, and let those shine through on your resume, in interviews and in any other contacts you may have with those in a position to help you obtain a job."

Once you establish what you expect from a career, you need to know what a prospective employer expects from you. Employers look at grades, experience, activities and majors in their search for employees. Allen says, "Each of (these) aspects will be important to "Realize there is a period of adjustment, and with each passing day, you will become more confident in your job, and thus your life will probably run more smoothly."

a potential employer to a greater or lesser extent, depending on the job or the basic philosophy of the company." She notes, however, that not everyone will be strong in all these areas; those who are lacking in one area need to compensate by highlighting particular strengths in other areas.

According to Susan Brock Wilkes, assistant director of career planning and placement at Virginia Commonwealth University, "Some general skills that employers look for in any field are written and oral communications, as well as interpersonal skills."

Another career counselor, former Arizona State University Assistant Director of Career Services Diana Regner, says "Potential is the key, and (prospective employers) have different measures to assess it."

Making Connections

Most college students are very familiar with the best way to demonstrate their potential: the resume. Sending a resume and cover letter to a business is an excellent way to get your foot in the door. However, there are additional ways to establish necessary connections.

A good place to start is your school's placement office. Most offices have available job listings, as well as names and addresses of companies you may wish to contact. If you can't find an opening that interests you on the first visit to the placement office, be sure to check back.

"Do not just make one appearance in the placement office," advises Allen. "It is important to keep checking in about opportunities. This demonstrates your motivation, and yours will be the first name that comes to mind when that perfect job opportunity does come in." Placement offices also generally offer job search strategy seminars, interviewing and resume-writing workshops, and on-campus interviewing.

In addition to the placement office, college offers several other ways to establish connections with professionals in your field. Betsy Litchin, a placement adviser with Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis, suggests that students join professional organizations while still on campus, and that they become active in those groups. Alumni associations can also provide excellent contacts, as can professors. Let professionals, alumni, professors and even friends of the family know of your career interests.

According to Allen, "You never know where that perfect job lead may come from, so you must maximize your possibilities by letting as many people as possible know about your interests."

Another good job-search idea is a technique called informational interviewing. Ask an executive in your field of interest not necessarily for a job, but for advice. In most cases, the executive will be flattered and will feel free to talk openly with you, since it's not an interview situation. And he or she will be likely to remember your name when a job opportunity becomes available.

The Interview

Once you have your foot in the door, your next step is an interview. Above all, sell yourself. Society teaches us to be modest, but you need to get over the apprehension of speaking highly of yourself to others. "Be very confident in telling interviewers what your strong points are," says Litchin. "Drop the 'I thinks' and 'I feels' and give them reasons to hire you. It isn't considered pushy to say 'I know I can do a good job with this.'"

One aspect of an interview that may scare you is being asked about your weaknesses. If that should happen, phrase your answer in such a way that the weakness becomes a strong point. For example, if you have difficulty working with groups, you might say, "Although I can work with a group, I get much more done when I work by myself on a project."

After you land a job

If you've already been through the resumes and interviews, and have a job when you leave school, congratulations!

But the transition doesn't stop there. Even if you know what you'll be doing, it may be difficult to go from laid-back college life to the professional atmosphere of the working world. "Each person making the transition from college to the professional world will differ in the amount of difficulty they experience in adjusting to a new lifestyle," says Allen.

And it really is a new lifestyle. There are no more three- to four-

"Each person making the transition from college to the professional world will differ in the amount of difficulty they experience in adjusting to a new lifestyle."

week long Christmas vacations, no more trips to Fort Lauderdale or South Padre for wild spring breaks and no time off to relax during the summer. Wilkes says, "During college, time is very flexible; whereas once a student begins working, time during the week is very structured and vacation time is much smaller."

Adds Regner, "The toughest difference to take after college is the time commitment."

The Office Environment

Not only will your schedule be contrary to what you're used to, but your dress, attitude and behavior will also change. The comfortable old jeans and sweats you wore every day during college will be reserved for weekends or after work. You may need to invest in a suit or several new dresses to wear on the job.

Allen stresses neatness and cleanliness in appearance. "When in doubt, lean toward the conservative side," she says. "People tend to have more confidence in those who dress like themselves."

"It's important to keep in mind that your first job will not last forever. It's the first step of many."

"It isn't considered pushy to say 'I know I can do a good job with this.'"

Relationships with both colleagues and superiors will be more formal than you may be used to. However, Litchin advises against coming up with a formal plan for behavior. "Play it cool for a while until you determine (the office situation) for yourself," she says. Allen agrees, "It is a good idea to keep relationships with superiors and co-workers on a professional, but friendly, basis."

Sometimes, those professional relationships may be frustrating. Those who are new to the working world often find the lack of feedback from superiors aggravating. It isn't like a class where the professor gives you a grade to evaluate your work. You won't always be told that you did a good job, or even that you need improvement, particularly if you're part of a large company. And when you do receive praise, you may not even know it. You need to learn how to read the higher-ups to know how they feel about your work.

And, in the professional world, you won't be given regular assignments as you were in college. In school, your calculus professor wrote the day's assignment on the board; you knew exactly what you were supposed to do. But on the job, you won't be spoon-fed. You will need to take your own initiative and come up with projects. "All supervisors like to see your interest and enthusiasm come through with suggestions for change and new ideas," says Allen.

After 5 p.m.

Life outside the office may also be different than you expected. You may decide to move to an apartment of your own, or your new job may take you to another city. Moving adds to the stress of the college to career change.

"If a student takes a job in an unfamiliar city, I would suggest she try to establish some type of support system for herself outside of work," says Wilkes. "Getting involved with some organizations: a Kappa Alpha Theta alumnae group, sports activities or interest groups are all ways of meeting new people. Expect it to take six to nine months to feel 'at home' in the new environment."

Wilkes also notes that having a roommate may make the transition go more smoothly. "Many students right out of school find having a roommate to be an excellent way of saving money and feeling easier about being out on their own," she says.

Allen suggests that students do whatever they can to ease the strain of the transition. "By minimizing any non-job-related or unnecessary changes, some additional stress may be eliminated," she explains.

Making the transition from college to career does take time and adjustment. "Realize there is a period of adjustment and, with each passing day, you will become more confident in your job, and thus your life will probably run more smoothly," says Allen.

And be aware that the first step you take into the professional world probably won't be your last. "It's important to keep in mind," says Regner, "that the first job will not last forever. It's the first step of many."

Make a career connection with TCP

An effective way to establish connections with the business world is through Kappa Alpha Theta's Theta Connection Program (TCP). TCP is a resource network designed to link job-seeking collegians or alumnae with professional Thetas.

TCP was established in 1982, and was expanded in 1986 when an international data bank was created in Central Office. Now, the computer provides a way to reach professional Thetas worldwide.

Also in 1986, the first TCP Directory was published, listing names and addresses of participating Thetas by profession. The 1987 Directory, available in September, is double the size of the first edition.

TCP is not a job placement program or a means for working Thetas to advertise their businesses. It is, instead, a way for job-hunting Thetas to reach professionals and establish personal connections in their job field. Theta professionals listed in the Directory are there to offer advice, not necessarily jobs. Members using the Directory make the connections themselves by sending personal letters.

Check the Spring 1987 issue of the Magazine if you are interested in taking part in the program. If you're looking for connections, use the order form in the Summer issue to purchase your copy of the TCP Directory. TCP is a great way to answer your questions about the job market and to link you with professionals in your field.

June 18-21, 1987

Legislative Chairman Jenifer Lucas, Alpha Upsilon, with award-winning Gamma Tau Chapter collegians at 1987 Leadership Conference Academic Awards Banquet

Tenth Conference Focuses on Pledge Education

"Theta gives us an advantage in the journey through life. It gives us a road map, which will help us make decisions at the many crossroads of life." Grand President Sue Supple's opening address (See page 11.) signaled the start of Kappa Alpha Theta's 1987 Leadership Conference, "Nobler Womanhood: A Lifelong Journey."

More than 700 Thetas—college chapter presidents, pledge advisers, Fraternity officers, and alumnae and college visitors—attended the Fraternity's tenth Leadership Conference June 18 through 21 at the University of Kansas in Lawrence.

This year's Conference focused on the Fraternity's pledge education program as well as topics relevant to it. Programs and discussions about membership education, little sister groups, leadership styles, alcohol abuse, eating disorders, illegal substances and AIDS were presented. After each general session, members met in small groups to discuss topics of concern. Attendees also learned more about Fraternity programming, including the Theta Connection Program, archives, fraternity education and the Foundation.

The Conference was a unique opportunity for Theta collegians and alumnae from across the United States and Canada to share knowledge, ideas and sisterhood as part of their lifelong journey.

Conference

Opening Session

Fraternity officers processed into the Conference's opening session, roll call was taken, introductions made and district officers were installed. Then the fun began.

Grand President Sue Supple's opening address (See page 11.) began with a takeoff on the Oprah Winfrey Show, in which Supple, or "Suprah" led guest panelists in a discussion of college and Greek life values. Then, microphone in hand, she moved into the audience where collegians were surveyed for their opinions.

As Supple concluded her speech—"... our drumbeat will stir the very souls of all who hear it," Thetas were delighted with the appearance of surprise special guest performers. The Cobras, a group of energetic and talented Kansas City young people, drummed and danced the Thetas to their feet. The group, sponsored by the Kansas City Boys and Girls Clubs, gives young people from age six to 20 an opportunity to try out for, and perform, with the group if they agree to follow strict codes of good conduct.

AIDS Video

Leadership Conference attendees were the first to view a new video about AIDS, produced by Kappa Alpha Theta and funded by the Foundation. The educational video, called "AIDS: You're Not Immune," is the first of its kind. Segments of the video were shown in a three-hour television show, "The AIDS Connection," which aired on major networks July 24. The video will be sent to all college and alumnae chapters.

Officers' Conference

"Reach for the Stars," the theme of Theta's two-day officers' conference, inspired the Fraternity's officers to learn more about the Fraternity's programs and their roles. Grand Council, special officers, college district presidents and alumnae district presidents met one day before and one day after the 1987 Leadership Conference to attend sessions about dealing with paperwork, the art of writing and communication; and informational sessions geared toward each group of officers.

Membership Education

Chuck Loring, president-elect of the National Interfraternity Conference, spoke to Thetas about "The Membership Concept" at the Conference's first general session. The presentation focused on the advantages of "membership education" as opposed to "pledge training," and Loring pointed out the following distinctions:

1. Pledge training emphasizes the pledge group, while membership education puts the emphasis on the individual member.
2. Pledge training focuses on pledge class unity, while membership education emphasizes chapter unity.

3. The responsibility for the pledge is given to the pledge educator in pledge training, while membership education places the responsibility on the entire chapter.

4. Pledge training is characterized by memorization; membership education is characterized by understanding.

5. Pledge training focuses on pledge activities, while membership education focuses on chapter activities in which the pledges participate.

6. Fear and intimidation are often motivators in pledge training, but the motivators in membership education are pride, acceptance and self-respect.

7. In pledge training, education ends with initiation; education and learning are a continual process in membership education.

8. Pledge training usually ends with initiation week as the highlight. The highlight of membership education is the initiation ritual, the beginning of a lifetime commitment.

Little Sister Groups

National Panhellenic Delegate Norma Jorgensen, former Grand President, led a Conference discussion about little sister groups. A panel presented both sides of the little sister issue. Panel member Gary Angstadt, executive director of Phi Kappa Psi, presented the viewpoint of the men's fraternity executives who drafted a resolution which states that "'little sister' groups are not desirable adjuncts to the collegiate chapters of men's fraternities." Collegians and alumnae had the opportunity to present their views and met in small groups to discuss their attitudes.

Academic Excellence Banquet

U.S. Senator Nancy Kassebaum, Kappa Chapter, spoke to Thetas about national issues and about their potential as women at the Conference's Academic Excellence Banquet. Kassebaum was the first woman elected to the United States Senate in her own right. Also that evening, scholastic awards and scholarships were presented to collegians from the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation. (See page 51.)

Gary Bonas answers collegians' questions following his Conference presentation about AIDS.

Total Health Education Through Awareness

Kappa Alpha Theta's CHOICES program, Total Health Education Through Awareness, was the basis of a general session featuring four rotating sessions, which focused on alcohol, other illegal substances, AIDS and eating disorders. An expert on each subject presented information to the Conference attendees, who were then given opportunities to ask questions. At the session focused on AIDS, Gary Bonas, assistant director of student activities at Villanova University, gave Thetas a questionnaire to complete: "What do you know about AIDS?" Look for the quiz in the Winter issue.

Grand President Sue Supple inspires Thetas with her speech, which focused on values.

A Nobler Life and Kappa Alpha Theta

Excerpted from Grand President Sue Supple's opening address at the 1987 Leadership Conference.

... I believe that for most of you, your Theta experience is a very positive growth process, but we have heard how that may not always be true.

Of course, it is not only the Greeks, or even just college students, that seem to place self-gratification above all else. Society in general has abandoned ethical behavior for pleasure, and concern for self has superseded concern for others. Not since the 1920s have there been so many scandals in the business world. "What began as the decade of the entrepreneur is becoming the age of the pinstriped outlaw," reported a recent edition of Time magazine. More than 100 Reagan administration officials have faced charges of questionable activities. Lawyers are seen not as guardians of the law, but as sophisticated manipulators who profit from rule beating. Doctors are viewed by many as self-serving money chasers.

One of the very popular commercials of the time reflects this philosophy: "Go for the gusto!" meaning that we only go around once in life and therefore we should grab everything we can and enjoy. But what is it we are trying to enjoy? Fame, fortune, wealth, prestige? All of these things are transitory. Few of the Wall Street traders of inside information; savings and loan officers in Texas who looted their institutions to buy fancy cars and foreign vacations; the Bakkers who betrayed thousands of people in order to have gold-plated bathroom fixtures; or the government officials who traded honor for contacts and influence who are now facing disgrace and/or prison would go for that gusto again.

Life really is a journey. We journey from birth to death and, whether we stray far from home or stay mostly in the same location, we still journey through life. The amount of fame and fortune we have acquired counts little at our ultimate destination...

Plato said, "The noblest of all studies is the study of what men should be and how they should live." This is the very essence of the Greek system. All fraternities and sororities share values of honor, truth, justice and concern for others, and their rituals endeavor to teach the young members how to live by these values. Our (Leadership Conference) theme, "Nobler Womanhood, a Lifelong Journey," was chosen because we believe Kappa Alpha Theta should help us journey through life. If we are truly to justify our lives we must have sources of power from which we draw inspiration, and our Theta ritual provides these sources.

Theta gives us an advantage in the journey through life. It gives us a road map which will help us make decisions at the many crossroads of life. Let's review these road signs. As pledges we learned that membership can enrich our lives, but with it comes responsibility to uphold Theta's high ideals. The Loyalty Pledge we sign just before initiation asks us to promise our loyal support in the attainment and preservation of Theta ideals. Then, at initiation, ... we pledge allegiance to the noble ideals of Kappa Alpha Theta.

What are these noble ideals? Intellectually, the highest scholarship; socially, the widest influence for good; and morally, the love as revealed in the Moral Code, which gives us truth, honor and justice. Life is not always pleasure. Every prize has a price; for every sunny June day there is a cold, gray dreary February payment. Life is full of problems, and the process of maturation means learning to deal with them. Life means self-discipline, not instant gratification. Our Theta road signs all help us learn these truths.

Thoreau said, "If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer." I believe Thetas should march to a different drummer, one who says that life is more than gusto, more than wealth and fame; one who says that the true values are love, honor, truth, fidelity and justice.

If we maintain a belief in God; an understanding that life is a journey, not a pleasure trip; that life means suffering as well as pleasure; and that the only relief comes from self-discipline, then Kappa Alpha Theta will provide leaders for the future, and our drumbeat will stir the very soul of all who hear it.

Old Traditions Continue:

Alpha Iota

New Alpha Iota members, from left; Lynn Frankel, Anita Rao, Janet Allin, Pam Ator, and Molly Rios with Eilene Slack Galloway, Alpha Iota, 1924, and Grand President Sue Supple.

November 30, 1906 and April 25, 1987 may appear to be only dates on opposite ends of the century, but for Washington University and Kappa Alpha Theta, the two dates have a lot in common.

Eighty-one years after its original founding in 1906, Alpha Iota Chapter was reinstalled at Washington University in St. Louis, becoming the 111th chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta. The newly installed chapter thus continues a 67-year Theta tradition at Washington, an independent, academically prestigious university with a student body of about 4500 undergraduates, and 3900 graduate and professional students.

Alpha Iota's colonization began

"Building Theta" was the theme for an Alpha Iota rush party.

January 25 with an afternoon rush party. More than 100 women gathered to learn more about the new group on campus, Kappa Alpha Theta, which would soon become the seventh National Panhellenic Conference organization at Washington University.

Tools, ladders, paint cans and hard hats served as decorations to lend substance to the colonization theme, "Building Theta," and the slogan, "We've Laid the Foundation...You Build the Traditions." Members of Alpha Mu Chapter at the University of Missouri and the presidents of two recently installed chapters, Miriam Herman from Epsilon Tau at Yale and Christine Jamgochian from Epsilon Upsilon at Columbia, added another dimension to the information session by describing college life as a Theta.

Alpha Iota President Nicole Casper recalls the early weeks of the Alpha Iota colony at Washington, "Our first few weeks as Theta pledges were very busy. Sunday meetings were new to us, and there were many things to discuss. All the pledges were given weekly study buddies. This program helped us get to know each other better. Also, each pledge had a personal conference with Ann Laubenheimer, our chapter consultant. During this time, we set goals for ourselves and for the colony."

One of my original goals was for Theta to become known on campus. I think we definitely have reached this goal. We started right away by serving as buddies for the children participating in the Special Olympics held at Washington. Our next service event was Sigma Chi Derby Days. As a colony, we decided that we wanted to get out there and show the other Greeks that we had arrived. I think everyone was surprised when we won the entire contest."

Alpha Iota's installation weekend, April 24 through 26, began Friday with a Loyalty Service, followed by festivities at which gifts to the chapter were opened. Initiation services were held Saturday. Especially symbolic and rewarding for both alumnae and the new members was the Charter Service, held later that evening and followed by a banquet.

The 1987 pledge class of Alpha Iota Chapter, Washington University, gathers with some of the many alumnae whose efforts were a part of Alpha Iota's new beginning.

New Traditions Begin:

Epsilon Psi

Both Panhellenic spirit and Theta sisterhood were strong at the University of Richmond last spring, as Kappa Alpha Theta joined five sororities in making history on the Richmond campus in Richmond, Va. Colonies from Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Delta Gamma, Pi Beta Phi, Chi Omega and Delta Delta Delta were installed as chapters the same weekend in May, with strong support from the University.

Eighty-seven young women signed the charter for the Epsilon Psi Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta May 3. This charter was later presented by Grand President Sue Supple at the installation banquet.

The charter members of Epsilon Psi began their pledgship on February 14. Under the supervision of Chapter Consultant Karen Rathgeber, the colony immediately began getting to know one another and forming strong bonds to make the chapter the best possible.

The first group event was a retreat to Virginia Beach, where pledges flew kites, played volleyball and conversed over lunch. It was a cold and blustery day, but also one of new-found friends and fun.

At the beginning of the chapter's pledge period, each young woman was given a Secret Sister to whom she sent notes and gifts. After about three weeks, they met their sisters at an ice cream party. This was followed by Spirit Chairman Libby Zaidel's plan for Birthday Buddies and Study Buddies. Each group of buddies consisted of four women who got to know one another better by studying together or going out for a meal.

Other highlights of the Epsilon Psi pledgship were socials and mixers with other sororities and fraternities, and a faculty tea at which Kappa Alpha Theta was introduced to faculty members.

As initiation time grew closer, so did the Epsilon Psi pledges. The general consensus was that Theta had brought many more friends into each woman's life, and that each felt a special bond to the others, even though the pledge class was a large and diverse group.

"Three months ago, there were 89 girls put together who didn't know each other. Now everyone feels comfortable together and we're psyched to do things together next year," explains new member Missy Kunkle.

Friday, May 1, the group signed the Loyalty Pledge and opened gifts to the new chapter. The next day the young women were initiated, and on Sunday, May 3, Epsilon Psi was installed as a chapter.

The installation team included Grand President Sue Supple; Grand Vice-President Membership Jane Hedges; Linda Pieplow, college district president; Gloria Williams, alumnae district president; Joyce Anne Vitelli, director of music; Marcia Bond, executive director; Nancy Frick, associate executive director; Betsy Sierk, chapter services manager; and Karen Rathgeber and Sara Bodenstener, chapter consultants.

Early Sunday morning, the new members attended a model chapter meeting and a church service. Later, a lecture, "Careers in Aerospace," co-sponsored by Kappa Alpha Theta and the Campus Assembly Series, was presented by Theta alumna Eilene Slack Galloway.

Mrs. Galloway was initiated into Kappa Alpha Theta at Washington University in 1924. She is an award-winning author, lecturer and editor; an expert in the creation and development of space law to establish and maintain law in relation to mankind's activities in outer space.

The lecture was an opportunity for the Fraternity to provide the University with an educational experience as well as to encourage the new Theta initiates to strive to follow in the footsteps of a pioneering Theta alumna.

Alpha Iota's installation team included: Grand President Sue Supple; Grand Vice-President Education Annetta Potts; Joyce Anne Vitelli, director of music; Jerry Harris, college district president; Kathy Klipfel, alumnae district president; Executive Director Marcia Bond; Chapter Services Manager Betsy Sierk; and Ann Laubenhimer and Tracy Modeer, chapter consultants. Epsilon Iota Chapter at Westminster was the assisting chapter.

Special thanks go to the Alpha Iota colonization team, which included Grand Vice-President Membership Jane Hedges, Marilyn Huseby, director of membership selection; and the many other local and area Thetas who contributed so much to the new chapter.

The spirit of the new Alpha Iota Chapter was captured by Chapter President Nicole Casper when she said, "The Alpha Iota Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta will strive for the best, for if we set our minds to it, we cannot be limited."

Other Fraternity officers present were Mallie King, college district president; Anna Lemert, alumnae district president; Katie McMillen, alumnae regional director; and Local Installation Chairman Kimbell Gabor. The assisting chapter was Epsilon Omicron at Randolph-Macon College.

The new sisters signed the charter Sunday morning and attended a model chapter meeting, during which the officers of Epsilon Psi were installed. The new members and guests then attended a banquet where Dr. Leonard, vice-president of student affairs at the University of Richmond, spoke on behalf of the University; and Epsilon Psi's historian, Kelly Murray, presented a slide show.

The installation weekend proved a memorable time for the University of Richmond and the new members of Epsilon Psi.

KAO Letters

Active Alumnae

You certainly were kind to me, and I appreciate your generosity in giving a whole page and more to my story about pillows and nuns and Mexico! Already, I have received some replies, and I am hoping that some orders might be forthcoming. Thank you very much.

And I must say that I found the Spring issue of the Kappa Alpha Theta Magazine most interesting, even exciting. You're doing a beautiful job, and I'll take this opportunity to congratulate you.

With very best wishes, and again, thanks.

Sincerely,
Virginia Young
Beta Delta

Editor's Note: Virginia Young's complete address is: Mrs. Robert D. Young, Pirineos 722, Lomas de Chapu Hepec, Mexico IO, D.F. 11000, Mexico.

Thank you very much for the nice article about Peg Richards and her canoe race in the Spring issue of the Magazine. It was lovely, and we all feel it was not only well done, but well deserved. The whole issue is interesting. What a lot of great alumnae we have! It was good to read about them.

Sincerely,
Myrna Shirtz

Social Awareness

I've been meaning to write to compliment you on the fine job you're doing with the Magazine, both in design and content, but the Spring edition story on AIDS has finally moved me to fulfill my intent.

So often, both as an alum and a college professor who works every day with young people, I think the sorority system is stuck somewhere circa 1957 when I joined: too much emphasis on parties and beauty and popularity and all that jazz.

Squarely confronting an issue with as grave a potential as AIDS was the last thing I expected from my sorority magazine. I am so proud to be associated with a sorority that has such a responsible, intelligent person editing the magazine. Thank you for running a substantial and straight-forward story on this terrible scourge of today.

Only through complete information can we help our young people protect themselves from AIDS. As a parent, a communications professor and a Theta, I congratulate you!

Loyally,
Zena Beth McGlashan, Ph.D
Associate Professor, University of North Dakota
Alpha Nu

As a Theta Dad I was gratified to read Grand President Sue Supple's spring message lauding Theta chapters which pledge their sisters on the basis of character rather than color.

Although I am a product of an all-white Greek system, I believe my daughter at Beta Iota has been significantly enriched by the fine young black woman who has been my daughter's "pledge Mom," roommate, confidante, and friend.

I am happy to have my daughter affiliated with a strong sorority that is often showing positive leadership in the area of race relations.

Sincerely yours,
Carl W. Johnston, Ph.D.
Denver, Colorado

This Spring issue definitely reflects all that I believe Theta represents—extraordinary women, both alumnae and collegians, academic achievement, expansion and especially taking a straightforward approach to the AIDS issue. Thank you for including that informative article!

I also salute our Grand President Sue Supple, for her message to us about the reality of ethnically diverse communities becoming incorporated in our chapters.

This issue has rekindled my enthusiasm in Kappa Alpha Theta and resurrected my belief of Theta standing for true "noblest womanhood."

Loyally,
Mary Overton Caldwell

Dealing with Grief

I would like to thank you for printing Gene Yasuda's article, "Grief" from the Daily Orange, Syracuse University.

Betsy Moss was my sister, yet I never knew her. I pledged Theta the September following her death. Betsy's illness, her death, and the pain our chapter suffered is rarely discussed in our house, because it is such an emotional subject. Yasuda's article and Kappa Alpha Theta Magazine have shown me who Betsy was. When I look at Betsy's picture on the composite in our house, I can now see beyond her warm smile. The statue in our living room, donated by Betsy's parents in her memory is more than just two girls dancing. Most importantly, the fund raiser, which I organized as service chairman to raise money for the American Cancer Society in memory of Betsy, now has deeper meaning, for now I feel I know Betsy.

Thank you for introducing me to a sister I never knew, and for helping the younger sisters of Chi Chapter better understand the grief our older sisters felt.

Loyally in Theta,
Dana Goldman

College Chapter Scholarship Report

January-December 1986

The pursuit of highest scholarship is the intellectual aim of our Fraternity. Today that is as true as it was in 1870 when we were founded. Scholarship and intellectual development must be high on our list of values to remain relevant as an educational institution.

The college chapter encourages academic success consistent with each individual's ability. Grades frequently are not accurate measures of learning but, at the same time, they do permit an evaluation of achievement. They can be useful in setting measurable goals for individuals and for chapters. Each member sets her personal goal and strives to attain that goal, thereby gaining satisfaction in learning and accomplishment.

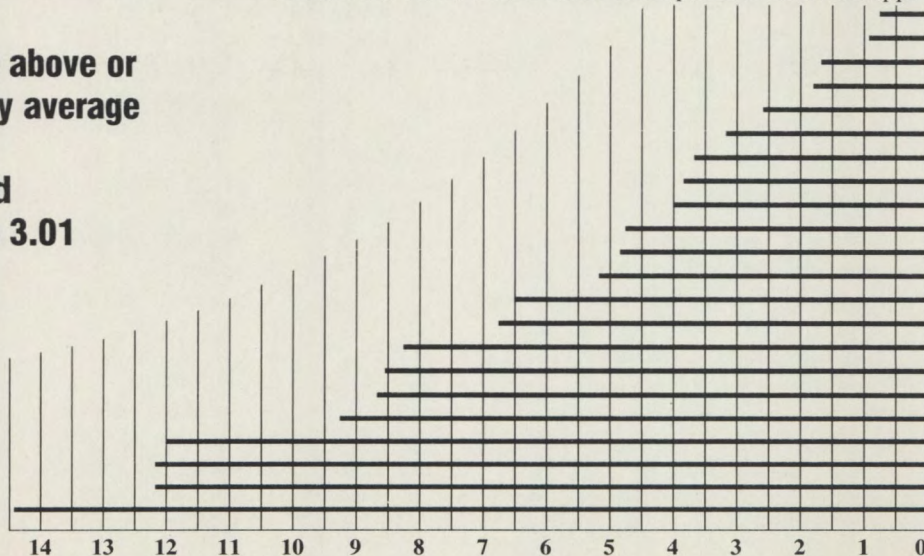

Educational excellence exists when there is an environment in which each member realizes her individual potential in both academic skills and as a worthy citizen in our society. Kappa Alpha Theta enhances this educational process of developing the whole person by providing a supportive and positive atmosphere, as well as by providing opportunities for leadership and personal development.

Living with Disabilities

Joy Post
Beta Gamma

Soley Dietz is a housewife in her mid-50s who keeps busy composing poetry, writing a spiritual column for her church and painting. She and her husband, Sam, live in Yorba Linda, Calif., but aren't content to stay put for long. They travel extensively in their motor home.

Joy Post is a 43-year-old speech therapist living in Sterling, Colo. She keeps up with a busy schedule on the speaking circuit, and also finds time to volunteer, teaching first graders about computers. In her leisure time, she loves to swim, play cards, fish, and attend concerts, plays and football games.

Pat Mulvihill resides in a high-rise condominium in Des Moines, Iowa. In her mid-30s, Mulvihill has worked as a travel agent and as a top sales representative of Xerox Corporation. She is an avid fan of ballet.

It may appear that these women have little in common. Although they do not know one another, they do share a bond as Theta sisters. They also share a bond of another sort: All three women are physically disabled.

Soley Dietz

At 25, Solveig Berg Dietz, Beta Phi, was a happy and healthy young bride, looking toward a bright and active future. Her dreams were shattered unexpectedly when she contracted polio.

Dietz says, "While confined inside an iron lung for 4½ months it remained in my mind that this was not a permanent situation, and that soon it would all disappear and I would be up walking and breathing on my own."

When the severity of the situation finally hit home, Dietz's determination took over.

"I had to call upon my inner strength to propel me forward into a productive, meaningful life," explains Dietz. "Each accomplishment, small as it might appear, provided encouragement to continue onward."

After 31 years, Dietz is still totally immobile from the neck down. She breathes through a respirator with the assistance of a chest shell, and cannot lift her hands to eat or feel.

She has made the most of the few physical capabilities she has left. With her typewriter rigged on a tall stand over her bed, Dietz types with a mouth stick held between her teeth. She paints in the same manner. She has a specially-built phone system, which is controlled by movements of her head. The Dietzes travel in a motor home outfitted with large picture windows and the other equipment Dietz requires.

Joy Post

In 1973, Joysa Gale Post, Beta Gamma, was an extremely active

29-year-old whose life revolved around dates, dancing, tennis and mountain climbing. One sneeze brought it all to a sudden halt.

Her sneeze triggered a massive stroke, resulting from a vascular malformation. She underwent eight hours of brain surgery and partial removal of the cerebellum, leaving her totally paralyzed and non-verbal.

"I was very frustrated because I could understand everything but could not respond," recalls Post. "Since I could not talk, people spoke louder to me or talked as if I were a child."

Joy Post

After 16 months, during which Post had no means of communication, her therapists finally devised a system using one of the few voluntary movements Post had.

"I would close my eyes while my therapist would say the letters of the alphabet," Post explains. "When she came to the letter I wanted, I would open my eyes. This was difficult, as my reaction time was slow, and sometimes I would open my eyes too soon while other times it was too late."

It was a laborious process, and fortunately Post was not forced to depend on it forever. Three years after the initial brain surgery, Post had an operation on her Achilles tendons.

"Three days after the surgery, I spontaneously began talking! Without going through steps, I could talk in complete sentences," she says.

Today Post talks with a slight slur, can get just about anywhere in her wheelchair, and is much in demand as a speaker. In 1984, she was one of 13 speakers chosen nationally to address the Roundhouse Conference for Parents of Handicapped Children.

"My progress continues to be a modern day miracle," says Post.

Pat Mulvihill

Patricia Mulvihill, Gamma Pi, was on the fast track. Just four years out of college, she was already Xerox Corporation's top sales representative in Minneapolis. She enjoyed lots of travel and a busy social life. There was just one slight glitch in her life: She was bothered by blurred vision and unsteady walking.

In 1978, Mulvihill returned to her alma mater, Iowa State University, to attend a football game. An old friend who had just graduated in medicine diagnosed her problem as multiple sclerosis.

Pat was able to continue working until 1981, when she moved back to Iowa to be with her parents. Three years later, she bought her downtown condo, which allows her to be fairly independent. During periods of improvement, Mulvihill gets around in a wheelchair. A sky-walk system links her condo to just about anything she needs: shopping, restaurants, movies and cultural events.

However, the disease flares up frequently, afflicting Mulvihill with seizures and leaving her so weak she cannot sit up or speak. She is dependent on care from day-help and her parents.

Patricia Mulvihill

Soley Dietz and husband, Sam

(NOTE: This article was written during one of these periods of exacerbation. Consequently, Mulvihill was unable to communicate directly.)

Prayer and people motivate

What is it that keeps these women going?

Gini Laurie, Beta Beta, has some insights. She is founder of the Gazette International Networking Institute and publisher of the Rehabilitation Gazette, a unique worldwide network, which provides counseling and support information to persons with disabilities. (See page 20.)

"The number one need of people with disabilities is other people," say Laurie.

She encourages families and friends to convey a positive approach. A disability seems like a tragedy, but she says there is always hope.

"Living takes whatever each one of us has," explains Laurie. "We all can do so much more than we ever imagined."

Dietz agrees. "A disability is not the end," she says, "but merely a new beginning."

"Your lifetime can be as full and as rich as you yourself determine it to be," declares Dietz. "You must draw on your inner strengths to meet your new challenge, always keeping hope in your heart."

Dietz credits her husband, "who has been my life-line . . . providing me with the necessary ingredients to overcome all my varied obstacles," as well as the support of close family and friends.

First and foremost, however, Dietz's inspiration has been her strong faith in God.

"Walking in His footsteps," she says, "I may actually feel the pain and hardships of those less fortunate than myself. This keeps everything in perspective and allows me to overlook my so-called 'incapacities'."

Post expresses many similar thoughts.

"People need to realized that we're all on a scale of suffering, and no matter where we are on the scale, some suffer more, some less," she says. "I think all people have handicaps, only some are more visible, like me in a wheelchair."

Post adds, "I know in my heart that my progress is a miracle from God. I am His instrument and He has worked miracles through the knowledge of therapists, support from friends, love and patience from my parents and nurses, and my own determination to get well."

Family, friends and occasional outings help keep Mulvihill upbeat, as well.

"Prayer is a great help," says Mulvihill's mother, also named Pat, "and the hope, always, that someone will find the 'magic bullet' and thus cure M.S. victims."

In times of adversity, Mulvihill's advice is to just keep going and to always have patience. She feels strongly that one must look beyond disabilities and just get on with life as much as possible.

Put-downs are a problem

"Not only are other people the greatest need of those with disabilities," says Laurie, "but they can be the biggest problem as well." There are many subtle, and not-so-subtle, put-downs. Others frequently act as if people with disabilities are children, or as if they are not present.

"People with disabilities are people first," says Laurie. "We ruin their 'peopleness' with these put-downs. We must see people as people!"

Theta provides support for those with disabilities

Gini Laurie, Beta Beta, had a father who did not believe that girls should be doctors. That did not keep her from giving a lifetime of care and service to people with disabilities.

At age 74, Laurie is founder, editor and publisher of the Rehabilitation Gazette, and is head of the Gazette International Networking Institute (GINI). Based in St. Louis, Mo., her journal and information service provides worldwide counseling and support for those with disabilities.

Named Virginia Grace Laurie, after two sisters who had died of polio, Laurie also lost a brother to the disease and has another sister who was left mildly disabled.

In 1949, she began volunteering at a respiratory polio ward in Cleveland, Ohio. She noticed that the people who were able to go home from the ward still needed to keep in touch.

"We all need to be shored up by each other's experiences," says Laurie.

Gini Laurie

So in 1958, she began publishing the Toomeyville (now Rehabilitation Gazette). Through the Gazette, polio survivors share solutions to physical and emotional problems, successes and hints for getting around. Today, the Gazette reaches readers with all types of disabilities in 87 countries, and is translated into five languages.

"The Gazette will give you the feeling of the positive approach to disabilities," says Laurie. "The approach that says, 'I'm disabled. I'm a person first. Let's get on with the job of living and being'."

Laurie stresses that those with disabilities must empower themselves with information.

"Push and question," she urges. "Don't just let things be done to you. Assert yourself and your individuality. Know more than your doctor by reading everything you can. Know your rights, and demand them."

As one of the first to recognize the "late effects" of polio, Laurie organized the first international post-polio conference in 1981. She also published a best-selling handbook on polio's late effects.

Laurie has received numerous awards, including the 1986 St. Louis Award, the Marion Mill Preminger Award for international service to the disabled, the 1987 Women in Communications Headliner Award, and President Reagan's Distinguished Service Award.

Those familiar with Laurie's work express great praise and admiration.

"Her specialness has indeed touched me in a most unforgettable way," says Soley Dietz, Beta Phi, a polio victim. "Her publications continue to encourage and motivate me in a multitude of ways. My heartfelt thanks, Gini, for just being you!"

Post echoes these complaints.

"People don't really ignore me," she says, "but they talk over me. I have to look up at people, instead of at eye level."

Dietz advises others, "Reach out to the less fortunate, for within them is a whole person longing to be free from their infirmities and wishing to experience a bit of the outside world through your friendship.

"Empathy is indeed a prized possession," she adds, "and it should be used often and wisely."

Mulvihill stresses that she just wishes to be treated normally. She says she may appear to be different, but she is still the same Pat Mulvihill inside.

Thetas provide support

The bond of Theta friendship has played an important part in the recovery and ongoing lives of these women.

"Through nine adventurous moves, I have been blessed with 30 years of encouraging association with Theta alumnae groups," says Dietz.

"I recall warmly when the Buffalo, N.Y. alumnae brightened my polio clinic days (in 1958) with their kind visits, along with presenting me with a lovely silver pansy pin.

"In 1965, I was given the privilege of starting the Lake Valley (Illinois) alumnae group. These special and caring individuals made me realize that I could still be productive, and they gave me the opportunity to prove it, for which I will be forever grateful."

Dietz is currently the fraternity education chairman of the Santa Ana Alumnae Club.

"When I first was in Boulder Community Hospital," says Post, "my Theta sisters were some of the first to come and see me. I looked forward to the mail, as there was usually some word from a Theta.

"Today I belong to Panhellenic. One of my very good friends turns out to be a Theta from Nebraska."

Mulvihill continues to visit and correspond with several good Theta friends.

"This has been a great help. It's most important to Pat," says her mother. "These are the friendships that have really stuck through it all."

Mulvihill has not been active with alumnae activities lately, but hopes to soon be strong enough to resume her involvement.

The lives of these women have changed dramatically since they were collegiate Thetas. This happens to everyone, of course, but the changes have been even more drastic for these three. With or without disabilities, Joy Post has encouraging words about how best to cope with whatever life hands out:

"When you get into a tight place and everything goes against you, until it seems as though you could not hold on a minute longer, never give up then, for that is just the place and time that the tide will turn."

THETA TALK

A new, member-at-large group for Thetas without alumnae chapters or clubs

The alumnae committee is pleased to announce the formation of THETA TALK, a new, member-at-large group designed especially for Theta alumnae who do not have access to Fraternity meetings.

THETA TALK extends a welcome to all Theta alumnae who are geographically removed from participation in alumnae chapters or clubs, but who want to be actively linked with Theta.

If you are one of those Thetas, and are interested in becoming involved with THETA TALK, I hope you will take a moment to complete the form, below, and mail it to me. I trust that as THETA TALK grows, you will be a special and enthusiastic part of the Fraternity.

Lynnette Perry, a 1985 graduate of the University of Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, landed the lead role in "One Touch of Venus," a musical that originally starred Mary Martin in its 1943 run on Broadway. Perry is performing at the Goodspeed Opera House in East Haddam, Conn., in the musical about Venus' visit to New York. A review of the musical in the New York Times spoke highly of Perry, and the show was also mentioned in USA Today. ♦

The 1987 National Maid of Cotton, Amy Gough, Alpha Theta, was chosen recently from a field of 300 applicants. Gough, a University of Texas Theta, replaced another Theta, Sherri Moegle, Gamma Phi from Texas Tech University, who was the 1986 Maid. Gough received a $10,000 scholarship, an entire Maid of Cotton wardrobe, and the opportunity to represent the United States cotton industry throughout the U.S. and the world. Two other Thetas were also chosen as finalists in the competition: Heidi Freundt, Omicron/University of Southern California and Ginny Self, Alpha Eta/Vanderbilt University. ♦

Elizabeth deGrazia, Epsilon Phi, was recently named the winner of a $2500 cash award as a Time College Achievement Award winner. DeGrazia, a third-year student at the University of Chicago received the award in March at a New York banquet, at which she was introduced to representatives of sponsoring companies. The award was established by Time in order to recognize college juniors whose achievements outside the classroom set exemplary standards of excellence.

For the third year in a row, a Beta Kappa Chapter member was named Drake University's Co-Rush Chairman. Susan Kepler, a junior speech communications major, was appointed to the 1987 chairman position in December, 1986. Kepler has been the chapter's Panhellenic delegate and a rush counselor, and is currently Beta Kappa's scholarship chairman. Another Beta Kappa member, Lisa Aulgur, who graduated in May, led Drake's rush last year. ♦

Epsilon Theta Chapter member Jerre Nevin was recently awarded a full two-year Army scholarship. Nevin, a junior at Stetson University, received this scholarship for her work with the school's ROTC Ranger department. She is the first female member of the Ranger Team. Nevin attended the Army Basic Camp at Fort Knox, Ky. last summer, and looks forward to a career in the service after graduation. ♦

OF EVENTS

An elegant, candle-lit ballroom in Pittsburgh's Vista International Hotel was the setting as Gamma Theta members held their 1987 Formal with Thetas from Alpha Omega Chapter. Alpha Omega, at the University of Pittsburgh, is a small chapter and wasn't able to completely finance its own formal. So Gamma Thetas at nearby Carnegie-Mellon graciously extended Alpha Omega an invitation to join forces. Thetas and their dates enjoyed a buffet dinner, an awards ceremony and lots of dancing. "The merging of our two chapters went exceptionally well, and we sisters from Alpha Omega felt welcome and very happy mingling with the sisters from Gamma Theta," said Alpha Omega Barbara Moore. ♦

Celebrating 100 years of Theta in California, the Federation of Kappa Alpha Theta Alumnae in Southern California held a benefit dinner and

A Closer Look...

Alpha Rho celebrates 75 years

Alpha Rho Chapter in Vermillion, S.D., celebrated its 75th anniversary April 4 and 5.

More than 250 Thetas from all parts of the United States took part in the Twin Star Jubilee events that weekend. Many of them saw sisters with whom they had lost touch through the years, but had not forgotten.

At an afternoon picnic, evening banquet and Sunday brunch, Thetas met to renew friendships and remember the special times they once had at 725 East Clark.

But back in 1897, there was no Alpha Rho. Thirteen women, calling themselves "The Baker's Dozen" or "TBD" asked national Kappa Alpha Theta for a campus charter.

Year after year, the TBDs at the University of South Dakota remained persistent in their request, sending petitions to Theta conventions until March 7, 1912, when they received a charter. On March 9 their chapter was installed.

The first rush was held in 1913 when four women pledged. They held meetings in private homes until the chapter house was built in 1929.

When the 75th anniversary celebration came to an end, with an exchange of farewells, hugs and hopeful promises to return for the 100th anniversary, Thetas departed their separate ways.

But since Theta is forever, with them went lifelong memories of a special red brick colonial house that will always be "home" to an Alpha Rho Theta.

dance in April. The benefit, titled "Celebracion del Centenario," had an "Early California" theme, and featured an auction. Local charities received proceeds from the event, as did the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation and the Institute of Logopedics. Southern California alumnae also recently donated a $1,000 scholarship to the University of Southern California in honor of the 100-year anniversary. ♦

OF NEWS

The 1986 University of Arizona Greek Awards, sponsored by the Order of Omega, gave Beta Delta Chapter a chance to shine. Beta Delta won several awards at the event, including the Dean Robert S. Svob Award for overall programming, an alumnae relations award, the chapter GPA award among all sororities on campus and the Greek Alumnae Hall of Fame Award. The chapter took several second and third place awards, as well, including second in pledge class GPA and in campus involvement. Individual recognition went to Beta Delta Mary Berger, who was awarded the Junior Panhellenic Pledge Scholarship. ♦

Beta Iota Chapter carried on the Theta tradition of high academic achievement by winning the University of Colorado Panhellenic Scholarship Award for the highest sorority GPA on campus at the InterFraternity Council-Panhellenic all-Greek awards banquet in February. The chapter's past president Cheryl Christensen received the Panhellenic Greek Liaison Award for 1986 at the banquet. In addition, Beta Iota's current president, Courtney Richardson, received a Panhellenic academic award for her 4.0 GPA. ♦

Beta Lambda Chapter at the College of William and Mary in Virginia was recently recognized as the Most Outstanding Greek Chapter on campus at the 1987 Greek Awards Banquet. The banquet was part of the annual Greek Fest sponsored by the Inter-Sorority council and the Council for Fraternity Affairs. ♦

Thetas contribute to Foundation in record amounts

In 1986-1987, Thetas made contributions to the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation in record amounts.

More than $457,000 was contributed to the Annual Fund Drive alone. In addition, Thetas gave in memory of loved ones, and in honor of the various achievements and milestones in the lives of sisters in whom we have special pride.

Many individuals, chapters and clubs gave sums to build Educational Trust Funds, which will benefit Thetas through scholarships awarded in perpetuity. Eight new Educational Trust Funds were established, and will be awarded for the first time at the 1988 Convention in Philadelphia.

Your donations enabled the Foundation to award nearly $100,000 in scholarships last June, including an increase in endowments for the Founders' Memorial Scholarships. Fraternity projects including the Chapter Consultant Program, Leadership Conference and the Balanced Woman Series were underwritten by the Foundation. And, the Foundation continued its support of the Institute of Logopedics.

As you know, during the past year, the Fraternity and the Foundation joined fund-raising efforts. Our separate records were merged to reflect each member's total cumulative giving to the national organization.

Listed on subsequent pages are the names of Thetas who have contributed to the Foundation between June 1, 1986 and May 31, 1987. Each Theta's name appears in the category that reflects her cumulative gifts via the now-lapsed Loyally in Theta Fund, or to the Foundation through the various opportunities for giving that it presents.

Five new giving clubs were established this year: Founders' Society, Circle Society, Loyalty Circle, Chain Club and Link Club. Those whose contributions this year brought their cumulative giving to a level that falls within one of these categories, became charter members of the new clubs.

On behalf of all the trustees, I thank you for your continued loyalty, which allows Kappa Alpha Theta to touch the lives of so many people in such beneficial ways.

Scholarships Funded by Foundation Dollars

Last year, your donations to the Foundation made it possible to award nearly $100,000 in scholarships to worthy Thetas.

Each year, four outstanding collegians who closely personify our founders are honored for their scholastic excellence and leadership skills. Chosen from 18 district nominees, each Founders' Memorial Scholar receives $2500 for her education. Each District Scholar receives $100.

Graduate scholarships of $1500 each are presented each year to 20 Thetas who are pursuing educations beyond their bachelor's degrees.

In addition, the Foundation manages Educational Trust Fund scholarships, established by gifts from groups or individuals. And each Convention year, a fellowship of $3500 is awarded to a deserving Theta who is working toward her doctorate.

Chapter Scholastic Awards are also given each Convention year to the Theta chapter with the highest scholarship, the highest quality and variety of scholarship programming, and the greatest improvement in scholarship.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA FOUNDATION

KAPPA ALPHA THETA THE BALANCED WOMAN

Foundation Dollars Fund Balanced Woman Series, AIDS Video

Through your donations to the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation, the Fraternity is able to provide collegians and alumnae with the Balanced Woman series, a program that supplies them with resource materials on topics of concern to today's woman.

The series includes articles and information on drug abuse, stress management and AIDS. The most recent addition to the series is a 20-minute educational video, titled "AIDS: You're Not Immune," produced by the Fraternity and funded by the Foundation. Segments of the video were included in a national television show about AIDS, which aired in July. The video is being sent to all college and alumnae chapters, and copies are available to interested members.

Chapter Consultant Program Supported by Foundation

Your gifts to the Foundation help fund Theta's Chapter Consultant Program, a vital link between the national Fraternity and the college chapters. Eight recently graduated Thetas were chosen last winter to be chapter consultants for the 1987-1988 school year.

After completing an extensive training session in August at Central Office, which focused on nearly every aspect of Kappa Alpha Theta, the consultants began their nine months of travels to college chapters throughout the United States and Canada. They share their Fraternity knowledge with collegians, advisory and house corporation board personnel, and alumnae group members.

Last year, the Foundation gave $81,000 to fund the Fraternity's Chapter Consultant Program. This money is used to cover the salaries and travel expenses of the consultants as well as their training.

Theta alumnae from the Lawrence, Kan. area helped make the 1987 Leadership Conference enjoyable for all.

Foundation Funds Leadership Development

One of the most important parts of the Foundation's work is supporting Theta's own members through funding of leadership development opportunities.

Foundation dollars support Theta's Leadership Conference, which is held every two years in order to educate college women and alumnae about a specific program area of the Fraternity, and to develop life and leadership skills.

Your Foundation gifts also fund leadership development seminars; the chapter financial system; and the alumnae district president program, which ensures that these district officers have the leadership training required to educate and motivate alumnae chapters and clubs.

Logopedics Holiday Card Reflects Warm Memories

A brilliant red stocking filled to the brim with candy, toys and gifts is pictured on the 1987 holiday greeting card of the Institute of Logopedics, Kappa Alpha Theta's national philanthropy.

The card reflects warm memories of Christmas for former Institute student 19-year-old Mark Botkin, who has a profound hearing loss.

This is the 29th year for the holiday card project, begun in 1959 by Institute founder Dr. Martin Palmer. That year, Dr. Palmer sent a student's artwork as a holiday greeting to family and friends, starting a tradition of sharing special children's holiday visions with others.

Today, the important fund-raising and promotional activity for the Institute has evolved into an annual contest for students in designing artwork for the card.

Through his program at the Institute, Mark learned to communicate through sign language. This enthusiastic young man completed his program last December, and now works full time in Wichita, Kan.

Mark's holiday greeting card represents the love and holiday cheer of every child at the Institute. Each box sold helps these children with multiple handicaps lead more meaningful and productive lives. To order cards, please see the ad on the back cover of this issue.

Former Institute of Logopedics student Mark Botkin designed the 1987 holiday greeting card for the Institute.

Foundation Responsible for Fraternity Fund-raising

In the spring of 1987, the Fraternity and the Foundation joined fund-raising efforts. Previously, the Fraternity managed its own fund-raising campaign, the Loyally in Theta Fund, or LITF. However, in an effort to improve efficiency and to provide more convenience for members, the Foundation now has sole responsibility for all fund-raising efforts.

The separate records of LITF and the Foundation were merged and updated to reflect each member's total giving to the national organization. Now, all donations to Kappa Alpha Theta are made through the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation, which provides funding for the educational programs of the Fraternity, in addition to scholarship programs and philanthropic activities.

How to Give to Theta

Your contributions to the Foundation support the work of the Fraternity and its members. There are many ways to contribute to the Foundation.

Gifts which are counted toward an individual's cumulative giving record include gifts to the annual fund drive, memorial contributions and honoraria, as well as cash, securities and other items of value given to create Educational Trust Fund scholarships.

Bequests are another way to give to Theta. Over the years, many Thetas have remembered Kappa Alpha Theta in their wills by naming the Foundation as the recipient of a specific sum or the balance of their estates after family obligations were fulfilled.

Although gifts of time and talent, or contributions of cash made to college chapters or house corporations are not reflected in a member's cumulative giving record, these gifts and donations are very much needed and appreciated.

For more information about how to contribute to the Foundation, write: Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation, Inc., 8740 Founders Rd., Indianapolis, IN 46268.

Foundation Dollars Support Communities

The Community Involvement Program, created in 1972, channels funds back to the communities of Theta alumnae. More than $50,000 has been distributed to assist local programs and charities, including alcohol and drug information centers, hospice programs, pre-school centers and a sports program for handicapped children.

Any Theta chapter, club or individual member may apply for CIP grants, which are given each convention year. Eighteen grants will be awarded in Philadelphia next year.

The Seattle Alumnae Chapter received a $1,000 Community Involvement Project grant from the Foundation in 1987 to support a local alcohol and drug information and referral center.

Foundation Trustees Manage Funds

Eight Foundation trustees from around the country meet regularly to manage the Foundation funds, which are endowed primarily by Thetas, but also by people who love Thetas.

The Foundation's trustees are: Marjorie Crane Schnacke, president; Gwynn Geiger Mannes, vice-president; Harriet Darley Damisch, secretary; Carryl Wischmeyer Krohne, treasurer; Dolores Martinson Matz; Anne Burr Saliers; Sue Farrell Supple; and Janet Paine Peters. Pamela Walker Ferree serves as the Foundation's Director.

Foundation Sponsors Golf Classic

Kappa Alpha Theta has long been a pioneer for women. Theta continues that tradition as a sponsor of the First Annual $200,000 Marilynn Smith Founders' Classic, the first ladies' seniors pro-am golf tournament.

The Classic, to be held October 13 through 17 at the Las Colinas Country Club in Irving, Texas, will honor the founders of the Ladies Professional Golf Association, including Theta Marilynn Smith, as pathfinders for women golfers. The tournament, which will bring together a prestigious field of women golfers, will also create the first arena for lady legends of golf.

Marilynn Smith, Kappa Chapter, turned pro in 1949 and has won 22 professional golf tournaments, including two-time winner of the Titleholders Championship. She became one of the 12 chapter members and founders of the LPGA in 1950, and has served as its president three times.

Smith was the first recipient of the Patti Berg Award, given for outstanding service to golf. She recently was selected as one of the "Distinguished Champions" of the 1987 Vincent T. Lombardi Tournament of Champions, an honor that recognizes leadership in sports and demonstration of high ideals for the public good.

Benefits from the Marilynn Smith Classic will go to help mentally retarded and deaf children through Excel Charities, Inc. A commemorative scarf by Ginnie Johansen Designs will be presented to those who donate $50 toward the establishment of the tournament. The 36-inch silk scarf, "The Beauty of a Beginning," features limited edition, original artwork, which captures the spirit of the LPGA founders.

Theta alumna and pioneering woman golfer Marilynn Smith is a member of Kappa Chapter and one of the LPGA's founders. Theta is a sponsor of the Marilynn Smith Founders' Classic, which recognizes the LPGA founders. At right is the commemorative scarf designed for the event by Ginnie Johansen Designs.
